Employee Code of Conduct

1. Purpose

Sets expectations for professional behavior, integrity, and mutual respect across the organization.

2. Core Principles

- Treat colleagues, clients, and partners with respect and fairness.
- Avoid conflicts of interest; disclose any potential conflict to your manager and Compliance immediately.
- Protect confidential company and customer information at all times.
- Do not accept gifts from vendors or clients valued over $75 without disclosure to your manager.

3. Prohibited Conduct

Harassment, discrimination, retaliation, falsification of records, and misuse of company assets are strictly prohibited and may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

4. Reporting Concerns

Employees can report concerns confidentially via the Ethics Hotline (ethics@company.com or the anonymous web form) without fear of retaliation.

5. Acknowledgement

All employees must acknowledge this Code of Conduct annually via the HR portal during the compliance training cycle.
